

Finding Your Place in Reconciliation:
Creating a Heart Garden

Saturday, June 4
at 3:00pm
Front Lawn of Mount Zion

In memory of the children lost to the Indian Residential School System

Planting a heart represents a person's commitment to reconciliation

A Heart Garden is created in memory of children lost to the residential school system, to honour residential school survivors and their families, and to support the legacy of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC). The act of planting represents our commitment to reconciliation. Hearts can be made by anyone of all ages and backgrounds.

We recognize that truth and reconciliation are not a one-time event but an ongoing commitment to continuous learning and change. Please join us as we create a Heart Garden on Saturday, June 4 at 3:00pm on the front lawn at Mount Zion. Ms. Stacey Ferguson, from Qayqayt First Nation, will be in attendance. We appreciate her support and guidance as we continue to learn and commit ourselves to reconciliation. She is encouraged by the steps we are taking so that the event is more than just making a pretty paper heart and sticking it in the ground.

We are also very appreciative of the resources we have received from First Nations Child & Family Caring Society, Iron Dog Books, as well as a grant from the Missions Committee of the BC Synod.

We look forward to your participation too!
